

Banksy inspired Artwork

Year 6 have been looking at Banksy in their art as part of their home learning. This is Ethan's interpretation of covid, using Banksy's style as inspiration. I think we would all probably agree with Ethan's art work. Well done Ethan.

Couch to 5K

Lucy in year 4 and her sister Jess are really missing their swimming and gymnastics, they have taken on the challenge of couch to 5k. Neither being into running before they have had to learn to pace themselves. Keep going girls!

Making the distance

Seb has put his new step tracker to use to help him keep active during lockdown. He's logging his daily steps to see how far he has walked and in week one walked over 44 thousand steps almost the height of Mount Everest! He may have 'peaked' too early so is thinking about his next challenge inspired by his Granny who cycled Lands End to John O'Groats or his Grandad who did the Coast to Coast walk.

Keeping Busy

Throughout the pandemic Evelyn in year 6 has been sending her relatives in Essex regular letters and emails to keep in touch and to give them something to do during lockdown. She started by posting some homemade puzzles, she then sent Harry Potter riddles and trivia, she has now progressed onto sending them her weekly jokes of the week.

Under the sea Art

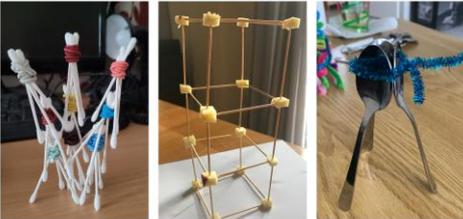

Year 3 have been looking at under the sea in their first few weeks of lockdown. Willow and Erin in Doves and Jessica in Kestrels have created this beautiful works of art. Where's Mary Poppins when we need her, we could all jump in and go for a swim.

Modern art

Year 2 spent the beginning of lockdown creating spoon sculptures.

They have been looking at Jill Townsley and have created their own sculptures based on her designs.

Year 2 sculptures based on the work of Jill Townsley

Recycled Rocket Ship

Charlie enjoyed his junk modelling task at the beginning of lockdown, building a rocket. I can't wait to see the paint job.

Writing Practice

Well done to Rosie in Ducklings who has challenged herself by writing sentences independently about shapes in her house.

Well done Rosie

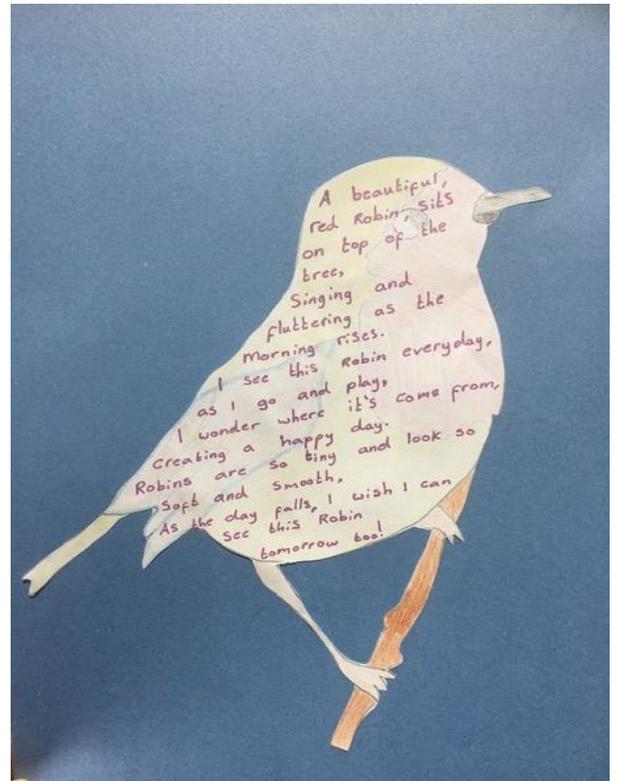

Bird Poetry

This beautiful poem was written by Kimran in Kestrels.

I love the way it has been written in the outline of a robin.

Well done Kimran. I can't wait to read your next poem.

Doing her bit

Edie in year 3 has taken it upon herself to help tidy up the local community. She has been going out litter picking. Well done Edie, a fabulous contribution to our community.
